

Destroy Your 600MHz Wireless

The image is a promotional graphic for Galaxy Audio. On the left, there is a dark red background with a repeating pattern of small white circles. At the top is the Galaxy Audio logo, a red stylized 'S' inside a red oval. Below it, the words 'GALAXY AUDIO' are written in white, spaced-out capital letters. Underneath that is the hashtag '#DESTROYYOURWIRELESS' in white, bold, all-caps. Below the hashtag, the text '600 MHz WIRELESS BUYBACK REBATE' is written in yellow, bold, all-caps. At the bottom of this section, the text 'No need to ship us your old system, we don't want it.' is written in white, all-caps. On the right side of the graphic is a video still showing a man with a beard and glasses, wearing a blue and white plaid shirt, holding a black wireless receiver device in his hands. He is standing in what appears to be a store or warehouse with shelves in the background.

Galaxy Audio now has a trade-in program available that will allow you to trade in any brand of wireless product in the 600 megahertz range and receive a special discount on current Galaxy Audio wireless products. We don't want your old wireless so instead, we want you to make a video of you destroying your old 600 MHz wireless and send it to us. You can send us your video or upload to YouTube and send us the link.

Galaxy Audio invites you to check out our FCC compliant wireless and other great Galaxy products at the 2017 WFX Show, Booth 1331.
